Next Year

For the 1938-39 term North York high school will enjoy a new setting. The architect's drawing of the building now under construction at Seventh avenue and North Queen street appears above. The new building is scheduled for occupancy at the opening of schools next September.

Although adequate in its day, the Wilson building, which was constructed in 1914 and has housed the senior high school for the past twenty years, has been outmoded for modern secondary school purposes.

The new building is of English Tudor design. It will contain seventeen class-room units which will house the junior and senior high schools under the 6-6 organization. Most recent equipment for both traditional and vocational courses will be installed.

This building became a reality thru a bond issue, passed by the borough citizenry, and a PWA grant issued by the federal government.

History

Upon the opening of the 1937-38 school year, the members of the Class of '40 adjusted themselves to their new surroundings and underwent the regular routine of school work.

First of their activities was the election of class officers for the coming term, and on September 22 the class assembled in room 3 for this purpose. The officers elected were: Sherwood Landis, president; Harry Smith, vice-president; and Okal Shenberger, secretary. Donald Shelly, class historian and Eleanor Shelly, treasurer retained their four-year appointments.

The annual sophomore bazaar proved the most colorful activity of the year for the sophomores. Under the supervision of I. R. Snyder, Sherwood Landis, the class president, selected committees for various functions. The chairmen of the committees include: Rodney Billett, refreshment; Robert Boring, advertisement; and Dorothy Patterson, donation.

Destined to become upper-classmen next year, the present sophomores joyfully prepare for the ascension on commencement.

History

With a group numbering 76, the Class of '41 entered North York high school last September. Although this beginners' class was slightly smaller than that of the preceding year, it held its banner no less high.

The sectional divisions were: academic students, 9-1, in charge of Clifford S. Gunnet; commercial students, 9-2, in charge of Robert E. Everhart; commercial, 9-3, in charge of Charles C. Leber.

During their first meeting as an organization, March 9, the class held election of officers. The results were: Paul Brandt, president; Robert Dern, vice-president; Dolores Ruby, secretary; Joyce Bair, treasurer.

The class colors, which were chosen recently, are maroon and white.

Varsity Baseball

At the time of this writing, Coach Ruby's varsity baseball team seems championship-bound in the York County Scholastic baseball league. Thus far the team is undefeated and leading the Class A division. Non-league victims of the Orange and Black are York High school and Y. C. I.

The feature of this pennant drive has been the pitching of John Gladfelter, senior moundsman. He has hurled three no hit, no run games, two against Dallastown, the other against York High. Kerns, Fry and Dittenhafer are pacing the batters.

Members: Clarence Monk, manager; Dwight Smith, Howard Kerns, Clair Fry, Paul Dittenhafer, John Gladfelter, Sherwood Landis, Earl Bear, George Glatfelter, Russel Witmer, George Geesey, Nelson Snyder, Gerald Hess, Donald Charleston, Stanley Hartman, Donald Snyder.

Was always so polite,
Her name never missed the honor roll,
What a perfect neophyte!

Next a Sophomore

She promptly returned in Fall And was still a little shy, Although she wasn't very tall, Intelligence shown in her eye.

Friends she made day by day
Around the age, fourteen,
She had them in her work and play
And with them could be seen.

"What means the word 'bazaar'?

They say we're having one, Will it go very far?

Will we have any fun?"

She took her problems very hard

But school she did adore,

A's crowded the report card Of this studious sophomore.

This junior girl was tactful, She knew 'Ignorance was bliss,'

Therefore she was amiable With every little novice.

"Each and every time I turn Some good lesson I could learn,

Smoothly as a piece of glass
All the days and months do pass."

Very polite but no longer timid As during the years before, No longer considered the rules

This brilliant junior.

Now a Senior

Now a senior in room nine, This lively little lass Always has a cheerful line For each one in the class.

When she began in '35
She made a resolution,
In every class she would strive
To make a contribution.

Mistakes were made
Only once (we hope)
She attained the grade,
With all she could cope? ?

This little story which could be true??? My best I did relate, So now I say to all 'Adieu,' For the class of '38. CANDY
